DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 8-12 and 17 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as anticipated by or, in the alternative, under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as obvious over Latina U.S. Patent No. 5,549,596.

Latina discloses laser treatment system and method for treating glaucoma, the method comprising the steps of:

introducing exogenous chromophore particles within the intratrabecular spaces of the meshwork (Col. 2, line 22 and claims 10-12); and irradiating the exogenous chromophore particles with short pulses of laser beams having a wavelength, power, and pulse duration that is absorbed by the chromophores (Col. 2, lines 45-49).

The exogenous chromophore particles introduced within the intratrabecular spaces of the meshwork is selected from the group consisting of india ink or any other nontoxic dyes (Col. 5, lines 17-20).

Latina further teaches the use of the second harmonic frequency (532 nm) of YAG laser. This wavelength falls within the wavelength range of the instant claims.

As described in the background (Description of Related Art section, page 7, lines 14-15) of the present application, the diameters of melanin granule are approximately 10 nm. These diameters are analogous in size to the exogenous particles used by Latina, However, although Latina teaches various types of light absorbing chromophores, he does not particularly teach the use of a chromophore comprising gold particles. However, the use of light absorbing chromophore selected from a group consisting of carbon-black, gold, iron oxide, etc. is well known in the art. Furthermore, the treatment system of Latina is capable for delivering light absorbing particles comprising a gold surface. This is due to the fact that the difference between the claimed particles and the chromophores of Latina is a chemical difference, not a dimensional difference.

Therefore, it would have been obvious to one skilled in the art at the time of the applicant's invention to modify Latina and use the system to deliver a chromophore comprising gold particles as an equivalent alternative light absorbing material.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed on January 19, 2005, have been fully considered and they were found persuasive. As a result, the rejections of claims 1-7 and 13-15 have been withdrawn.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 1-7 and 13-16 are allowed.

Conclusion

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
